Solutions

Secure Solutions

Titan Secure* offers a fully encrypted system that secures all digital communication between Titan Vision devices and components, maintaining the integrity of your security surveillance systems from the control device to the recorded data and all system communication pathways.

IP CCTV security system networks are increasingly common across all areas, public space, law enforcement, defence, banking, private or public sector. Data integrity and system security are the key requirements for a reliable and robust security network. Titan Secure gives you the required protection without compromising your network or hardware performance.

Titan Secure has been developed to meet the very stringent requirements set out by UK Government National Security Committee, CPNI and US Government NIST security standards.
